THE MARKET

The Coca-Cola Company is the world's largest beverage company. Along with Coca-Cola®, recognized as the world's most valuable brand, the company markets four of the world's top-five soft-drink brands, including Diet Coke®, Fanta®, and Sprite®, and a wide range of other beverages, including diet and light soft drinks, waters, juices and juice drinks, teas, coffees, and sports drinks. Through the world's largest beverage distribution system, consumers in more than 200 countries enjoy the company's beverages at a rate exceeding 1.3 billion servings each day.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Until the mid-1950s, the contour bottle and bell-shaped fountain glass defined packaging for Coca-Cola. But as people demanded a wider variety of choices, the company responded with innovative packaging, new technology, and new products. In 1953, long-size and family-size glass bottles were introduced with immediate success, followed by cans in the U.S. market in 1960. The company then marked several firsts in the soft-drink industry: 18-top cans and bottles with lift-top crowns in 1964, and a 24-pack "Cluster-Pak" of cans and five steel cans in 1969.

After more than $250,000 in development costs and rigorous testing by NASA, the "Coke Space Can" was accepted for its first mission in outer space in 1985.

By 2000, the company had introduced a new generation to the famous contour bottle — first with the 1993 20-ounce plastic version, and later with the return of the classic embossed glass contour bottle (complete with city and state references on the bottom) in 2000.

In the past decades, The Coca-Cola Company has created new brands to meet the desires of consumers, starting with Fanta in 1960. Sprite was launched in 1961, followed by TAB — the company's first low-calorie drink — in 1963. The debut of Diet Coke in 1982 marked the first extension of the Coca-Cola trademark to another product. And the new products, such as Vanilla Coke continue today, add to the company's portfolio of nearly 400 brands.

For the past 117 years — through its ads that brought the world together, packaging innovations, and the introduction of new products to fit the tastes of consumers wherever they may be, whatever they may be doing — Coca-Cola has become a part of the lives of people around the world.

HISTORY

In 1886, John Pemberton created Coca-Cola in Atlanta, Georgia, and sold it at a local pharmacy. His partner and bookkeeper Frank Robinson named the product and drew the famous flowing Coca-Cola script.

Atlanta entrepreneur Asa G. Candler realized the business potential of the drink and acquired complete ownership of the Coca-Cola business for $2,300 in 1891. Within four years, Candler's merchandising flair — including the use of coupons — helped expand consumption of Coca-Cola to every part of the nation. The 1916 introduction of the patented contour bottle made Coca-Cola instantly recognizable from imitations by taste, sight, and touch. The contour bottle was granted trademark registration in 1977, an honor awarded few other packages.

THE PRODUCT

Coca-Cola. It's a simple idea, really. Drinking a Coke makes people happy. It tastes good. And it's an invitation to live on the positive side of life. That's the message behind "The Coke Side of Life," brand Coca-Cola's overarching marketing platform. It has been created to invite people to create their own positive reality, be spontaneous, listen to their hearts, and live in full color.

Coca-Cola has always been at its best when it reflects the simple, optimistic moments in life. The Coke Side of Life recognizes that the most universal experiences are those where Coca-Cola is refreshingly honest and uplifting.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

As part of a continuous stream of innovation, Coca-Cola North America has expanded its brand beverage portfolio with the ever-evolving consumer in mind.

Black Cherry Vanilla Coke and Diet Black Cherry Vanilla Coke.

Cherry-flavored beverages are experiencing significant growth as are no-calorie soft drinks. The company's innovative fusion of real cola, luscious black cherry, and smooth vanilla flavors creates a taste that is complex and delicious. With well over 250 million cases sold, Vanilla Coke and Diet Vanilla Coke have been significant contributors to the company's business. With Black Cherry Vanilla Coke and Diet Black Cherry Vanilla Coke, Coca-Cola is able to expand its cherry-flavored portfolio and give consumers what they are saying they want.

PROMOTION

My Coke Rewards. My Coke Rewards is a multi-year, online-driven, mega-rewards program across all Coca-Cola™ brands. The program allows consumers to choose from a pool of experiences only Coca-Cola can offer and features rewards from some of the world's best brands.

The program is the largest for the Coca-Cola trademark, with rewards valued at over $50 million. Participation is easy. Consumers look for unique codes under the caps of specially marked 20-ounce bottles of Coca-Cola classic®, Diet Coke®, Coca-Cola Zero®, or any other Coca-Cola brand product. By going to www.mycokerewards.com, consumers then create an account and enter their code. Codes can even be entered via mobile phone, and as consumers collect and enter more codes, their account grows. When they have accumulated enough points to redeem their desired reward, they simply select it, and the points are deducted from their account.

Spanish-speaking consumers will be able to access a complete Spanish-language site simply by logging on to www.mycokerewards.com and selecting Spanish as their preferred language. This is the first fully bilingual, Internet-based initiative for the Coca-Cola brand in the United States.

My Coke Rewards has partnered with some of the world's best brands, including adidas, Delta, Kodak Easy Share Gallery, Blockbuster, Sony, Hilton, Bluefly, Spafinder, and more to offer My Coke Rewards members an incredible array of rewards. The launch of My Coke Rewards will be supported by an extensive marketing campaign, including television, radio, print, online, cinema, and out-of-home advertising; in-store point-of-sale materials; and more.

Coca-Cola and NCAA® March Madness. In 2006 Coca-Cola ignited fan passion for college hoops by offering consumers the chance to win more than 90,000 great NCAA®-related prizes, including the grand prize of a VIP trip to the 2007 NCAA® Final Four. Specially marked packages of Coca-Cola and Coca-Cola Zero will direct fans to www.mycokerewards.com where they can register for a chance to win one of the prizes being given away every 35 seconds. The "2007 NCAA® Men's Final Four VIP Trip" not only sends fans to the Big Dance, but also gives them a special behind-the-scenes experience. #### BRAND VALUES

Today, Coca-Cola North America provides consumers with the broadest selection of brands for every taste, lifestyle, and occasion to hydrate, energize, nourish, relax, or simply enjoy every drop of life. Coca-Cola North America markets more than 100 beverage brands, including four of the world's top-five carbonated soft drink brands. Coca-Cola and Diet Coke are the number-one and number-two brands in North America.

The company believes it has a responsibility to support programs that provide nutrition and physical education. In the United States, more than 4 million kids participate in and receive information on programs that are designed to encourage physical fitness and overall well-being. Beginning in 2006, the company began to provide consumers with more useful information about its beverages and their ingredients beyond the label on the package. Its information is designed to help people decide which of its products fits best with the individual and the family.

The company also is committed to following responsible marketing and advertising practices. Parents prefer to be the jacksheep when it comes to what to serve their children. For over 50 years The Coca-Cola Company has adhered to a policy that prohibits marketing full-sugar carbonated soft drinks on television programs primarily viewed by children.
