Dear Stephen,

As part of its international association with Superbrands, The Nielsen Company recently undertook a large online research study across 48 countries to identify consumer reactions to the Superbrands name and Award Seal. The survey sample size was c.500 per market, weighted to reflect the Internet population in each country.

The aim of the survey was to determine consumer awareness of the Superbrands name and whether they were more likely to trust a product or service when they see the Superbrands logo associated with a brand's advertising and marketing.

The Nielsen survey found that 74% of consumers who recognized the Superbrands name claimed to be much more or more likely to buy products or services associated with the Superbrands Award Logo, and 69% would be much more or more likely to recommend the product/service to a friend. For those respondents that were unfamiliar with the Superbrands name/logo, 60% associated the word 'Superbrands' with a product/service of high quality.

The results of this research vary from market to market, and local market data can be made available, but the global averages for the Nielsen survey can be viewed on the following page.

Yours sincerely,

Lisa Lee

THE MARKET
The Coca-Cola Company is the world's largest beverage company. Along with Coca-Cola®, the company is the world's most valuable brand. The company markets more than 200 brands in 200+ countries, including Diet Coke®, Fanta®, and Sprite®, and a wide range of other beverages, including diet and light soft drinks, water, juice and juice drinks, teas, coffees, and sports drinks. Through the world's largest beverage bottling system, consumers in more than 200 countries enjoy the company's beverages at a rate exceeding 1.3 billion servings each day.

ACHIEVEMENTS
Diet Coke®, the iconic logo, and half-gallon reusable glass refill packaging for Coca-Cola. But as people demanded a wider variety of choices, the company responded with innovation, packaging, new technology, and new products.

In 1955, long-neck and half-gallon glass bottles were introduced with immediate success, followed by cans in the U.S. market in 1960. The company then entered several other markets, including 18-gallon cans and bottles with 16-gallon crows in 1963, and 24-pack "Cherry Ball" of cans and six-liter cans in 1983.

After more than $250 million in development costs and rigorous testing by NASA, the "Coke Space Can" was accepted for its first mission in outer space in 1985.

By 2003, the company had introduced a new generation in the format container bottle — first with the 900 70-ounce plastic version, and later with the return of the classic emblem glass one-liter bottle complete with city and state references on the bottom in 2008.

In the past decade, The Coca-Cola Company has introduced new brands to meet the demands of consumers, starting with Fanta in 1982. Sprite was launched in 1981, followed by Diet — the company's first low-calorie drink — in 1983. The debut of Diet Coke in 1992 marked the first extension of the Coca-Cola trademark to another product. And the new products, such as Vanilla Coke, continue today, and to the company's portfolios of nearly 800 brands.

For the past 117 years — through its ability to bring the world together, packaging innovation, and the introduction of new products to fit the tastes of consumers wherever they may be, whatever they may be drinking — Coca-Cola has become a part of the lives of people around the world.

HISTORY
In 1886, John Stenberg created Coca-Cola in Atlanta, Georgia, and called it a health beverage. His partner and bookkeeper Dr. J. C. Pemberton named the product and gave the famous flowing Coca-Cola script.

Atlanta entrepreneur Asa G. Candler took over the business part of the drink and secured complete ownership of the Coca-Cola business for $2,300 in 1891. Within five years, Candler was franchising four — including the use of a unique, hand-drawn script of Coca-Cola to every part of the nation.

The 1911 incorporation of the parent company, The Coca-Cola Company, was a landmark event. It was the first time a beverage was sold in a glass bottle made of clear glass, and it was the first time a beverage was sold in a plastic bottle.

THE PRODUCT
Coca-Cola is a simple idea, truly, bringing a color and people together in one place. And it's an invitation to live on the positive side of life. That's the message behind "The Coke Side of Life," brand Coca-Cola's marketing and packaging. It has been created to meet people in their own lives, wherever they are, and to be a part of their lives, and live in full color.

Coca-Cola has always been at the heart when it comes to the world's most valuable brand. It's the Coke Side of Life that has made it the most successful beverage brand in the world. RECENT DEVELOPMENTS
As part of a continuous stream of innovation, Coca-Cola North America has expanded its brand beverage portfolio with the new-to-market consumer in mind.

Coca-Cola Diet, Coca-Cola Zero, and Coca-Cola Zero Sugar are the new-to-market products in mind. The differences and rich flavor of Coca-Cola Diet provide the perfect pick-me-up for people looking for new ways to stay hydrated any time of the day or night.

Coca-Cola Zero is a uniquely satisfying beverage that is 100% sugar-free and 100% calorie-free. You enjoy Coca-Cola Zero, Coca-Cola Zero Sugar, and you enjoy the taste of Coca-Cola.
